Terrific Explosion Is Heard

FORECAST HEAVIER AIR RAIDS ON REICH

LONDON, April 20.—(INS)—Twin-motored American Marauder bombers attacked military objectives in Northern France today.

The sweep, covered by RAF and Allied Spitfires, was carried out during the afternoon.

LONDON, April 20.—A mysterious explosion, one of the greatest heard on the English coast since the war began, rocked towns along the Dover Straits early today, apparently emanating in the Calais-Capgris Nez area of occupied France.

The reverberating explosion, which occurred shortly before 1 a. m. (7 p. m. Wednesday EWT), was accompanied by great flashes of such intensity that they illuminated the channel from coast to coast. Additional, lesser blasts were heard at 6 a. m.

Shortly before the first explosion was heard, Allied planes were heard returning from France, but there was no indication as to whether the blast had been set off by a delayed action bomb or by some other cause.

Other Heavy Blasts
In this connection, Reuters news agency reported that other heavy explosions took place Saturday night but "did not appear to be caused by Allied air attacks."

Commenting on the record aerial onslaughts of Tuesday and Wednesday, which left Germany and the occupied lands battered and blazing, well-informed sources predicted that new blows soon to fall on the continent will dwarf even these onslaughts.

Although up to a late hour this morning there had been no word of any heavy attack against the continent last night, these sources (Continued On Page Two)

Jap Marshall Islands Reel Under Bombs
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)
PEARL HARBOR, April 20.—Jap central Pacific island positions reeled today under the relentless aerial blows of the army, navy and marine corps.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz disclosed that Mitchell medium army bombers, navy Ventura search bombers, and Marine corps Corsair dive-bombers, accompanied by navy Hellcat fighters, blasted buildings and gun positions in the remaining Jap Marshall bases with 42 tons of bombs.

The attacks started a large fire among ground installations at one point.

One of our dive-bombers was forced down by engine trouble. A destroyer rescued the pilot and gunner.

In addition to the strikes against the Marshalls, army Mitchells again hit Ponape, Jap Caroline outpost, 437 miles east of Truk.

More bad news for Japs in the Carolines came in the guise of navy search bombers which visited Pakin and Ululi Islands.

In the widespread American bombings, no mention was made of American losses except the dive bomber from which the crew was rescued.

Strategy Of Huge Air War Discussed

By CAPTAIN JOHN C. CRAIG
(Written Especially For I. N. S.)

One of the most significant but least known figures in the war today is Britain's Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Harris. Air Chief Marshal Harris is the author and chief exponent of the idea that Germany can be brought to her knees by strategic bombardment from the air.

As such he is the "man behind" the present gigantic American-British air campaign against Germany.

In London's music halls and night clubs, Air Chief Marshal Harris is called, "the man who may save a million Allied lives." That may sound like a good many lives, but careful examination of the facts and (Continued On Page Two)

NAPLES, April 20.—British Halifax bombers of the Mediterranean command carried the air war against Nazi supply lines to the Russian front another step forward today by blasting the Bulgarian city of Plovdiv for the second time in 48 hours.

The attack against the city's rail yards, some 70 miles east of Sofia in the south-central section of the country, was carried out while an early-morning haze covered the ground and results could not be observed accurately. However, re- (Continued On Page Two)

SURVIVORS ASSERT 90,000 SLAUGHTERED

Editor's Note: International News Service Staff Correspondent Natalia Rene, one of the first frontier journalists to enter the Black Sea port of Odessa after its liberation by the red army, here describes the reactions of its inhabitants, freed from German terror after two and a half years. She also portrays graphically the bestial horror visited on the city by the Nazis before they were driven out.

(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

ODESSA, April 20.—Residents of the port city of Odessa on the Black sea are at work today rebuilding their shattered homes and attempting to erase from their minds the horrible nightmare of Nazi occupation which, according to survivors, took the lives of 90,000 of their neighbors.

The city itself is coming back to life, slowly but surely, but the memory of those 90,000 slaughtered residents still casts a pall over the area. Persons who survived the German occupation, which lasted two and a half years, said today that 70,000 Jews alone fell to Nazi executioners—shot, hanged or burned alive. Another 20,000 Russians and Ukrainians died violently at the hands of the enemy, they added.

At present, not more than 300 Jews may be found in the entire city. I was told—and these escaped death "only by a miracle" of dodging which barely enabled them to elude Nazi search squads.

The fate of the city's Jews was described as the most terrible of all. Thousands of them, however, were among the citizens evacuated to (Continued On Page Two)

Clairton Police Go On Bear Hunt

CLAIRTON, Pa., April 20.—(INS)—The call of the wild today broke the daily routine of Clairton's police force.

Police went on a bear hunt after George Robinson, a badly frightened Negro, dashed into the Spruce street station in frantic haste with a report he had seen a bear descending a tree.

Officers rushed to the scene, but only found scratches on the trees, trunk that one man claimed "looked mighty like the marks a bear's claws would leave."

Allied Aerial Blasts Weaken Nazi Defense

Nazi Fighter Plane Strength

Secretary Says

ATTACK ON BALKANS PROVING SERIOUS

WASHINGTON, April 20.—(INS)—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson reported today that Nazi opposition to Allied air attacks on German cities and war installations was weakening perceptively, and that the enemy has lost 20 percent of her fighter plane strength since January.

Reviewing the week's war developments at a news conference, Stimson declared that "our air invasion of Germany continues" and "enemy resistance is weakening."

Stimson pointed out, unusually small losses suffered by both American and British bombing missions in recent attacks on the German mainland, and coupled results of these raids with new long-range sweeps by Allied fighters over enemy airfields.

Nearly Overlap Reds
Stimson reported also that air attacks on Germany-held Balkan nations from Italian bases have progressed to the point where they almost overlap Soviet operations.

Russia-based bombers have struck at Galiati, Rumania, while American bombers based in Italy have hit the Ploesti oil fields, less than 150 miles away.

Stimson recounted the continuing Russian advance in the Crimea which has left only Sevastopol remaining in enemy hands. Many Nazi troops have been killed or taken prisoner in the Crimean drive, the secretary of war reported.

He pointed to recent American attacks on Japanese positions in the Caroline and Kurile Islands as proof that "all parts of the Japanese empire are coming within our range" in the Southwest Pacific.

he said, the Japanese base at Rabaul as well as their positions on New Ireland and New Guinea are being attacked daily.

The fighting on Bougainville, he reported, has resulted in 5,421 Japanese killed from March 8 to April 15.

Future

FEDERAL AID IS ALLOCATED

Allocation of $20,000 in federal funds for the remodeling of the Jameson homestead, at North Jefferson street and Lincoln avenue, which was bequeathed to the Jameson Memorial hospital for an annex to the nurses home, has been made, Roger W. Rowland, chairman of the hospital board, announced today and work on the project is expected to get under way as soon as the necessary contracts with the Federal Works Agency have been signed.

The remodeling work will cost slightly in excess of the amount granted by the FWA, but the extra cost will be absorbed by the hospital, it is stated.

Mrs. David Jameson, wife of the donor of the hospital, who gave the realizing that the quarters were inadequate, also gave the old home, a fine stone building on North Jefferson street, at her death.

Work of remodeling the home has been delayed pending approval of a request for government aid, which will now be forthcoming.

Chairman Rowland announced that Harold L. Gordon, W. F. Moody and Attorney Norman A. Martin have been named as a building committee to have charge of the remodeling work.

Kohima Siege Is Now Broken

JAPANESE FORCES NOW FACE THREAT

By VINCENT DE SILVA

SOUTHEAST ASIA COMMAND
HQ KANDY, Ceylon, April 20.—Tank and artillery reinforcements for the Allied garrison at Kohima streamed along the Dimapur road today after crack British and Indian troops broke the week-long siege of the big supply base in furious bayonet fighting.

The reinforcements are expected to be thrown into action immediately to aid the Allies in hammering at exposed Japanese positions. These enemy forces under grave threat of annihilation as a result of the lifting of the Kohima siege and the alleviation of the danger to the vital Bengal-Assam railroad into northern Burma.

Siege Lifted
With the siege of Kohima lifted, preparations moved forward for a Ceylon-based attack upon the Japanese. Lieut.-Gen. Sir Henry Pownall, who in 1942 was named head of the British army in Ceylon, arrived at Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters to take up his duties as chief of staff to the supreme commander.

Artillery batteries played a major part in breaking the Japanese ring around Kohima, shelling enemy positions.

Infantrymen Strike After Heavy Artillery Fire Had Paved Way

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)
NAPLES, April 20.—Allied infantrymen, striking after heavy artillery fire had paved their way, inflicted heavy casualties on Nazi defense forces today when they raided a strong position three miles northwest of Littoria in the Anzio beachhead.

The raiding party advanced through terrific enemy fire to reach its objective, a group of Nazi-held houses just outside of Littoria, Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson announced.

Two hours later the raiders withdrew without suffering a single casualty, taking with them several prisoners seized in the attack. At the same time, the artillery batteries kindled a large fire in Littoria itself.

A second raiding party probed Nazi positions opposite the Eighth Army line near Arielli adjoining the Adriatic. Sixteen prisoners were taken.

Within ruined Cassino in the center of the Fifth Army front, the twin German strongpoints at the Des Roses and Continental hotels were "successfully machine-gunned." The Germans replied by sending a heavy mortar barrage against the New Zealand-held railway station and dropping new propaganda leaflets over the Allied lines.

SEVASTOPOL NAZIS ARE BLOCKADED

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
MOSCOW, April 20.—Violent see-saw armored battles raged today deep within old Poland but in the Crimea the Russians pressed their siege against the Germans' "last stand" garrison of Sevastopol which now is completely blockaded by land, sea and air.

A two-pronged counter-offensive by the Nazis east and south of Stanislawow, 70 miles southeast of the key city of Lwow, was met by effective fire of massed Soviet infantry, artillery and armored legions. The official Russian communique revealed that the Germans were attacking repeatedly with "large" tank-paced infantry forces.

"Some inhabited places changed hands repeatedly," the announcement added, still contending that "all enemy attacks were beaten off."

Front Is Widened
That the enemy had widened its offensive front in the last 24 hours was implied by the communique which told of the attacks "south and east" of Stanislawow. Previously, only "east" of the junction had activity been reported, thus indicating that the Germans were (Continued On Page Two)

Key Naval Base In Truk Sector Again Bombed

By GEORGE LAIT
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)
GEN. MACARTHUR'S HQ, New Guinea, April 20.—For the second time in less than 24 hours, American airmen today were revealed to have pounded the Satowan airstrip guarding the Japanese naval base at Truk in the Caroline Islands.

The assault, which coincided with a blow against vital installations on nearby Woleai, was carried out by Solomon-based heavy bombers which dumped 27 tons of explosives on the runway and bayside areas. Japanese planes took to the air but failed to attempt to intercept the raiders.

On Woleai, huge fires sent smoke columns high into the air and explosions echoed through the sector as American air patrols hit supply dumps and the airstrip runway.

Other squadrons pestered the Rabaul area of New Britain island with 94 tons of bombs which again were aimed principally at airport defenses and supply installations.

Three key airstrips were pocked with bomb bursts, two gun positions were hit and fuel and ammunition dumps written off as probably destroyed by the 150 medium and light bombers participating.

Two planes were lost in other night harassing attacks and daylight fighter sweeps over other sectors of New Britain, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced.

Several Japanese coastal defense posts on New Guinea were bombed and strafed despite adverse weather conditions and at least one bridge over the Gabi river was demolished.

Dewey-Bricker May Be Ticket

G. O. P. Leaders Believe
Gov. Warren Is Eliminated By Becoming
Keynote Of Year

CAMPAIGN PLANS CAUSES SPECULATION

By WILLIAM K. HUFCHINSKY
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, April 20.—Political observers in Washington are predicting today that the Republican ticket of 1944 will be Thomas E. Dewey of New York for President, and Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, for vice president.

G. O. P. politicians in the capital believe Gov. Earl Warren of California eliminated himself from consideration for the running mate appointment as keynote speaker of the Republican convention. Previously Warren was a favorite among Republicans in Washington for the second place nomination with Dewey.

Republican campaign strategy, with a Dewey-Bricker ticket, would be to concentrate on carrying the industrial East and Middle West, along with the rebellious farm belt where Dewey is a great favorite.

This could give the Republicans sufficient electoral votes for a November victory even if they lost the War West Coast state which went Democratic in 1932, 1936 and 1940.

Today Dewey is not a candidate, and yet is almost certain of winning the Republican Presidential nomination. In accord with tradition, if nominated, he will be given the choice of running-mate. Only if he declines to name a favorite for the post would the choice go to the convention (Continued On Page Two)

LARGE WARSHIPS AND PLANES IN ASSAULT

Admiral The Lord Louis Mountbatten's action in transferring his headquarters from New Delhi to the jungle-fringed island of Ceylon drew its first dividends today with announcement of a blistering Allied naval and air assault upon Japan's chief western garrison guarding Sumatra in the Dutch East Indies.

Huge Squadron
A huge squadron of naval craft including airplane carriers commanded by Admiral Sir James Somerville steamed through the lower reaches of the Bay of Bengal south of the Nicobar Islands and opened up in combined naval and air action a terrific bombardment of Japanese emplacements at Sabang on the tiny island of We.

This island is separated by a narrow strait from the northwestern tip of Sumatra, the sprawling still partly unexplored island which the Japanese have never been able thoroughly to pacify.

The stepped-up offensive, representing the first naval action since Lord Mountbatten moved out of (Continued On Page Six)

City and County	94,713
Deficit	17,086

It is expected that the campaign will be further discussed at the meeting of the chapter board, which will be followed by a meeting of the executive committee in the chapter rooms, North Beaver street, this evening.

road blocks and cutting a path for advancing infantry forces working out of the railroad at Dimpapur. A crack Indian jungle patrol made the first contact with the English home counties regiment which had beaten back a series of heavy Japanese attacks on Kohima during the last week. Simultaneously, the main relieving force advanced to a point only 1,000 yards distant.

Fighting from ranges of less than 800 yards, Allied gunners poured more than 1,000 rounds of shells into enemy foxholes on the approaches to Kohima in the drive which resulted in the capture of the last Japanese-held hill there. As soon as the barrage lifted, bayonet-wielding Indian and British troops charged up the slopes of the hill and forced the Japanese to flee.

Unofficial observers estimated that more than 4,000 Japanese have been killed in infantry engagements since they began their invasion of Manipur, with at least the same number slain in artillery and air bombardments.

figures involved make it seem a gross understatement. During the first World War, nearly 1,000,000 British ground troops were killed as well as one and one-third million French poilus in the four years of fighting necessary to break through the trench systems of Kaiser Wilhelm's German army. An amphibious attack by American-British forces on a fortified coast of Hitler's fortress Europe today might cost as much.

May Soften Resistance

But if the tremendous Allied campaign of air war, now mounting to unprecedented heights, accomplishes the results for which present reports give us reason to hope, German ability to resist our amphibious drive may prove much less than is expected even by the most optimistic.

It was Air Chief Marshal Harris who "sold" the British government on the strategic bombardment of German war production centers, which laid the foundations for the present Allied air war.

The British bomber chief selected 30 Nazi cities essential to Hitler's war effort. If these could be destroyed, he decided, the entire German war machine would fold up. The cities were elaborately mapped and charted for the benefit of Britain's airmen with the locations of war industries accurately located.

Strategy Determined

Night bombardment was determined upon as the strategy to be followed. Night bombers could use darkness as a defense.

Although the strategy of night bombing afforded an adequate margin of safety for British bombing squadrons, it rendered precision bombing impossible. To meet this objection the territory to be bombed was divided into squares. The objective was to place a predetermined number of bombs in each of these squares. This, according to the theory, would result in the destruction of all buildings and industrial equipment in the area covered.

Since the early days of the development of the Harris plan the United States Eighth Air Force based on Britain had added to British night bombing its tremendous campaign of daylight precision attack against German key objectives. According to late reports, Allied authorities believe that twelve of Germany's key cities have been knocked out of war production entirely with 13 more heavily damaged, and only five escaping with comparatively light punishment. Air assault on these is being redoubled against the day when the American-British amphibious thrust at Europe's invasion coast puts Allied theories of war in the air to a final test.

vention itself. In the latter event, politics in Washington and Bricker would be a certain winner if Dewey had already won the Presidential nomination.

Dark Horse May Arise

However, there is always the chance of an upset. Dewey himself may not win the first-place nomination. A "dark horse" may arise by convention time to win either the first or second-place roles. There is a possibility that the widespread support for Gen. Douglas MacArthur for the Presidential nomination might make his choice as running-mate imperative by June.

Lieut. Commander Harold Stassen, the former governor of Minnesota, is a possibility, too. Gov. Dwight D. Crisswell of Nebraska, meanwhile is a candidate for the second-place role. The fact that the farm belt went Republican in 1940 and is now overwhelmingly against Roosevelt militates against their nomination.

This feeling of making capture of the eastern states certain is adding the choice of Bricker for Dewey's running-mate. Many Republicans believe it would be an ideal ticket. The two governors are friends.

Bricker remains the only Republican actively campaigning for the Presidential nomination. However, in all his campaign speeches, he has never said one word critical of Dewey. Hence, he is in a position to accept the vice presidential nomination on a Dewey ticket.

Practical Republicans view a Dewey-Bricker ticket as insuring victory in New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio, for a total of 109 electoral votes. That would be more than one-fifth of the victory total.

safety before the Germans reached the city in the early days of the war.

The last census, taken Jan. 1, 1941, showed this Black sea metropolis with a population of 737,000. Over half of this total was evacuated before September, 1941, when the Nazis laid siege to the city, but more than 300,000 remained.

300,000 In City

Now, however, there are some 300,000 persons in the city again. They came here as refugees from other towns impoverished by the Nazis, hoping to find work and food.

One man told me he had walked all the way from the town of Yalta in the southern Crimea, fleeing from a famine which gripped the area because of the ravages of the Nazis. Upon reaching Odessa, he barely escaped being deported to Germany for work in a forced labor battalion.

Another young woman who came originally from Nalchik revealed that she, like many other mothers, had been torn from her child and driven into a labor detachment earmarked for the Reich. She eluded her captors near Nikolayev, however, and fled to Odessa where her identity was unknown.

Odessa, however, is not another Stalingrad. Although the destruction has been horrible, with post installations, power station and other big buildings ruined, the city as a whole remains intact.

It is the people, more than the buildings who still need reconstruction. Probably years will pass before this once bustling and beautiful "Russian Marseille" can be restored to its former cheerful, prosperous appearance.

ARMORED BATTLES ARE NOW RAGING IN OLD POLAND

striving to cave in the upper shoulder of a salient which the Red Army previously had driven to the Tatar Pass through the Carpathian mountains.

Another objective of the Nazi counter-drive might well be to counter-act the mounting threat to Lwow, already under attack by Red Air force bombers. A "mass raid" Tuesday night resulted in some 40 huge fires visible 100 miles, as well as "barrage explosions."

Both sides enjoyed heavy air support in the Stanislawow battles, and at Sevastopol the Germans managed to get some planes off their one remaining airport to aid several counter-attacks launched against the Red Army spearheads hammering at the very gates of Sevastopol.

In the area of the Sevastopol-Simferopol highway, several enemy counter-thrusts were repulsed and a large number of prisoners taken. On other sectors of the Crimean front, the Soviet assault forces were mopping up small knots of beaten German and Romanian troops.

With the Nazis' resistance officially described as "particularly stubborn," the Russians outflanked and "reduced" the "enemy" islands of resistance by determined blows. Several more important positions on the rugged terrain outside the strategic naval base were seized by the Red Army.

According to the communists, the enemy is trying to evacuate by sea and air remnants of key officer personnel. However, Soviet warships and aircraft have maintained a ceaseless day-and-night vigil, striking heavy blows against those Axis evacuation craft that manage to reach the open sea or become airborne. Other German ships and planes are being pounded mercilessly in port or on the airfield. More than 80 enemy vessels were sunk during the last two weeks.

Within Bessarabia, where the Germans counter-attacked "stubbornly" to relieve mounting pressure on Chisinau, "all enemy attempts to restore the situation failed."

MYSTERY BLAST IN FRANCE ROCKS CHANNEL TOWNS

expressed doubt that any brief breathing spell will give the Luftwaffe time to regain even a portion of its depleted strength.

Luftwaffe Groggy

American fliers, with their deadly precision bombing of aircraft production centers and their heavy toll of Nazi planes shot down in combat, were credited with leaving the once-dreaded Luftwaffe groggy. It now appears as if Nazi aerial commanders are intent upon conserving their remaining strength, even at the cost of leaving many vital targets undefended, these sources declared.

At the same time, RAF night bombers were lauded for their newly-demonstrated ability to carry out "precision-type attacks" in the darkness, as shown in their accurate blasting of rail objectives in the Paris and Rouen areas Tuesday night.

In connection with that attack on the former French capital, the Nazi-operated Paris radio today released its version of the number of fatalities and asserted that at least 725 persons were killed. There was no confirmation of this figure from any other source.

The broadcast also said that two of the city's busiest railroad stations, Gare d'Orsay and Gare d'Orsay, were "temporarily" as a result of the bombings.

London, April 20.—"Several waves of American bombers" attacked the important Malines railroad junction in Belgium during the night, the German DNB agency declared today.

Malines, 12 miles north of Brussels, is the intersection of four main railways. The rail lines converge from Germany, Holland and France. EDITOR'S NOTE: Although the Nazi transmission, heard by Reuters, described the night raiders as American, it is unusual for U. S. war planes to operate except by daylight.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR COLLECTION OF WASTE PAPER

their papers and magazines separately and to flatten cardboard containers. These should be piled on the curb before 1 o'clock, tied up with strong twine in bundles not to exceed fifteen pounds.

The first waste paper collection here netted 63 tons. The one on Saturday could easily double that if everyone would bundle up the waste paper now lying in basements and attics.

This is not a stunt, it is an important part of the war effort. The army and navy need your waste paper. Do your part by turning it in Saturday, April 22.

Vital Nazi Link

The city, whose yards are a vital link in the Nazi supply system through the Balkans and on to the eastern front, was bombed Monday night by British-flown Liberators and Wellingtons. It also was hit on March 18.

Waves of British Wellington bombers attacked the Italian ports of Plovidiv, San Stefano and Leghorn early today, following up assaults by American mediums upon the Plovidiv and Ancona rail yards. Fires and explosions were observed following the attacks on Plovidiv and Ancona, both important links in the enemy's supply chain.

During the night British Mosquitoes shot up trucks and trains north of Rome.

Much Damage

Twenty-two other vehicles were wrecked and 10 damaged by Spitfires which swept over occupied Albania, where hits also were scored.

The Story Of Famous Diamonds

The Diamond That Men Fought and Died For!

THE REGENT

Discovered in 1301 in the Parteil Mines of India, the Regent Diamond has survived many stirring incidents. Found by a slave who slashed his leg to hide his 410-carat monster, it passed into the possession of Sir Thomas Pitt whose very life was offered at tempted. Hidden in the French Revolution, it was later found buried in a ditch on the Avenue de Champs-Elysees, in Paris, and later worn by Napoleon in his sword belt. In recent years, the Regent was the prize possession of the French Government and was given the honored position at the Louvre in Paris.

WORKING AFTER THE WAR

AN INTERESTING sidelight on postwar employment is offered in a report indicating that little more than half the service men from one county—Genesee—in New York expect to return to their old jobs after the war. The report summarizes a survey conducted by Carlton A. Sears of Batavia, community chairman of the Committee for Economic Development, who has been assembling data on industrial and commercial employment potentials after the war at the committee's request.

A letter was addressed to each of 3,000 service men and women from Genesee county, many of whom are overseas, and 1,034 replies have been received so far. Of these, 546 men and women said they wanted their old jobs back, while 130 had "other plans of their own," 99 wanted different jobs because of special training they had received in the services, 92 did not know, 75 hoped to resume their educations, 58 planned to enter or resume business for themselves, 23 wanted to live in other communities and 11 wanted to remain in uniform after the war.

The results of the survey show to some extent how active participation in the war has affected the thinking of Americans who have been taken out of their former occupational careers. That many apparently will want their old jobs back was naturally to be expected, for that is where they feel they fit best in normal times. That almost as many others may be disposed to make a change is not surprising. Warring in places far removed from home seems likely to have changed their outlook on their former peacetime situation.

Many have discovered and developed new skills and aptitudes, in some cases outraging previously conceived availability. Others may have had their viewpoints confused, their regard to security shaken. All, it goes without saying, have advanced in maturity in course of rigorous and uncompromising personal experience.

Whether in or out of uniform after the war, whether settling down to familiar routine or looking for self-establishment elsewhere, the veterans of this war will have developed new individual stature, new capacity for adjustment, that should serve them progressively on occupational counts.

MORE BAD NEWS FOR THE AXIS

Tokyo might well take note of the record-breaking transcontinental flight of six hours and 58 minutes on Monday from Burbank, Calif., to Washington, of the new giant transport plane Constellation at an average speed of 355 miles an hour.

Designed to carry 56 passengers comfortably in postwar travel, the Constellation is being turned over to the Army. It can transport 100 soldiers with full pack or a light tank with its crew across the Atlantic.

There is no suggestion that it is a prototype of the new super-bombers for which we are waiting. But it marks a tremendous advance in aviation since Doolittle's daring assault in 1942, in range, speed, maneuverability and capacity, that gives more than a hint of the qualities we may expect—and soon, we hope—from the great bombers.

The Constellation is bad news for Hitler and Tojo. But only part of the bad news.

WAR IN THE ATLANTIC

Secretary Knox, speaking in Bermuda at a celebration of the third anniversary of the Allied naval base there, predicts that the lull in the battle of the Atlantic soon will come to an end.

Since a detail of British sloops finished off six U-boats in a single tour of convoy protection, little has been heard about the submarine threat. But Mr. Knox says that Germany has concentrated on construction of submarines to the virtual exclusion of all other naval building; that shortly the wolf packs may be expected to come out in larger numbers.

With invasion D-day approaching, it is only natural that the Germans should intensify their preparations for attacks on the line of supply. There is little doubt that it was with D-day in mind that the British Navy again went after the Tirpitz. Reconnaissance pictures now show that the German warship was hit by no fewer than twenty-four bombs, was set afire and wrecked so that she cannot be used to interfere with this year's invasion plans. The only hope of seriously hurting that operation short of the shores of Europe lies in breaking up convoys carrying munitions. It would be strange if the Germans did not bend every effort to that end. At sea, as on land, the invasion may mean some costly fighting. But it is fighting for which the Allied navies are well prepared.

Yanks are capturing Jap islands in the Pacific ten at a time. Which makes Tojo so sorry.

Any relationship between Vice President Wallace's proficiency in Spanish and his trip to China is purely coincidental.

The ability of Ma Perkins to see a reduction in the cost of living of six-tenths of 1 per cent indicates an interest in little things.

A Michigan cow recently gave birth to triplets. It must have heard about Henry Wallace's conversion from economic scarcity to economic abundance.

Americans are more meat in last three months than during any similar period since 1908. This refutes those who allege that rationing is not a success.

"Britain Sends Four to Prison for Dealing in Witchcraft," says the headline in a current newspaper. Maybe they didn't have priority for a ride on a broom.

Wisconsin cheesemakers the other day adopted a resolution blasting the OPA for its new regulations. In short, they think that the New Deal has shot the cheese industry full of holes.

Soviet Advance Amazes

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Following the headlines, we tend to take for granted the smashing successes scored by the Russians day after day. It's almost routine—hundreds of recaptured towns, thousands of prisoners, vast new areas cleared of the Nazi invader.

But top military men here are not reacting that way. They have been amazed at the force behind the recent Russian drives in the Crimea and the Ukraine.

The extent of the sweep has been far greater than military planners had foreseen. It has, in fact, renewed the hope that the war in Europe can be brought to an end in 1944, thereby offsetting the pessimism of six weeks ago when Churchill, Roosevelt and others gloomily talked of "some time in 1945."

Leaders Surprised

What has particularly surprised military leaders is the Soviet capacity to supply their advancing forces over great distances. Much has been made of the highly touted German Todt Organization which supplies the front lines as they are pushed forward. What Russia is doing convinces our observers that the Soviet must have a supply system superior to Todt.

We here in America can feel that we have contributed something to this achievement. While the great bulk of the material is Russian, some of it, and often that calling for the highest technical skill and scientific development, comes from this country.

Recently Lend-Lease supplied a complete power plant on a railway train. As soon as new rails are laid in the devastated area behind the lines, the movable power plant is sent in to supply power for rehabilitation work. Not one but several high octane gasoline plants have been furnished the Russians. Such equipment is in addition, of course, to the tanks, guns and planes that have gone to the Soviet Union.

At the Teheran Conference, Marshall Stalin gave his allies a preview of his plans for the coming year. They were most impressive. The performance, however, has far exceeded the promise. The hard-pressed Nazis have had to draw on military manpower from Western Europe, although they've made every effort to conceal that fact from their own people.

"The Russians thought in vain to alarm us by their offensive," a Nazi newspaper recently declared. "We have not removed a single soldier from Italy or France."

Ilva Ehrenburg, Russia's foremost military writer, commenting on this, said: "In other words, in order to retain the ruins of the Benedictine Abbey at Monte Cassino, Hitler has relinquished the whole of the Ukraine with its wheat, iron and manganese. That will no doubt make even the stupidest Fritz smile."

Ehrenburg quotes from German soldiers' letters found in an abandoned Army post office. They tell of being sent from France to Italy, then to the Balkans and finally to Russia.

With the start of the invasion of Occupied Europe from Britain, Stalin will turn on the heat even harder and no one doubts his capacity to do it. Undoubtedly a master plan is ready for coordination with the big push in the west.

So far, no signs of unrest have come from "tough-minded" Uncle Joe. Recent news dispatches from Moscow say that people on the street are again beginning to wonder where that second front is. But Stalin knows and, knowing, he seems to have confidence in his allies.

In this time of waiting that seems so endless, things tend to get out of scale. The attack of the Japs on Imphal in India is serious. It could mean the beginning of a drive to force China out of the war.

Latest dispatches, however, somewhat reassured military leaders here. They are hopeful that the Japs can be thwarted. In the broad panorama of the war, Imphal is small.

No one in authority wants to spread optimism. The generals and the admirals know better than anyone just how grave an undertaking lies ahead. They know what it will take in men and machines.

But they know also the million and one details of preparation now going forward. They know they wait with confidence for the all-important day. They are confident that the three allies will carry through with teamwork long planned in advance. It is up to us to show the same kind of patience and trust in this interval of waiting.

PRIVILEGE
I wonder if all creatures chat of lovelessness, as we.
And say to one another: "That Must be a cherry tree."

"And aren't those hills a pretty sight."

"With each returning spring? And do you know of more delight Than orchards blossoming?"

"That white cloud drifting o'er the sky.
Seems like a ship at sea. I never see one sailing by.
But on it long to be."

I wonder if all creatures share Their pleasures, now and then,

That only given to men?

We are promised a lot of things after the war, but no doubt there will be a lot of them we will not like.

Wherever there is a human being, there is an opportunity for kindness.

GOOD WATCHES ARE HARD TO BUY NOW

It occurred at a recent trial, the magistrate was pointing out that a witness was not necessarily to be regarded as untruthful because he had altered a statement made previously.

"For instance," continued the judge, "when I entered this court today, I could have sworn that I had my watch in my pocket. But then, when I wanted to see what time it was and found that I did not have my watch, I remembered I had left it in the bathroom at home."

That evening, when the Judge was heading up his hat and coat at home, his wife asked, "My dear, why all this fuss about your watch... sending four or five men for it?"

"Good heavens!" gasped the learned jurist. "I didn't send anyone after my watch. What did you do?"

"Why, dear, I gave it to the first one who came," he knew just where you had left it."

The Byrd Movement

WASHINGTON, April 20.—The Democratic movement, now spread to a number of States outside of the South, to nominate Senator Harry F. Byrd as President, has had neither sanction nor encouragement from Senator Byrd. In at least one State he has gone out of his way to discourage an effort in his behalf. Nor has the growth of the movement created any illusions in the mind of this sturdy, able, clearheaded and courageous Virginia Statesman.

AS WELL as anyone, he knows, first, that if Mr. Roosevelt, nearly everyone believes, wants a fourth term, there is no way to prevent his nomination. Second, that if for any cause Mr. Roosevelt is not nominated, the chances of Senator Byrd being chosen are exceedingly remote. The reason is clear.

The Byrd nomination, in effect, would be a repudiation of all Mr. Roosevelt's policies, except those on foreign affairs and the war which have had full support from Senator Byrd. His nomination would be equivalent to a rejection of the New Deal and an indictment of the Roosevelt Administration for inexcusable waste and fiscal mismanagement. With Mr. Roosevelt still in the White House and wielding great power the impossibility of this is plain.

ACCORDINGLY, very few—least of all Senator Byrd—have any notion that he can become the nominee this time, though a very strong argument can be made that he is the best equipped man in either the past or the future.

For handling the great problems that will present themselves to the next President. Nevertheless, the extent and character of the Byrd movement are not only a tribute to the man but, when added to the recent anti-Roosevelt Democratic vote in Wisconsin and other indications, they are well calculated to give the thoughtful White House politicians pause. For it reveals a far stronger Democratic opposition to the President than there was four years ago. It also reveals a greater popular concern over governmental waste in the fight against which Senator Byrd is the outstanding leader.

BOTH of these things are natural. Concerning the first it is inevitable that there should be more resentment.

The World and the Mud Puddles

IMMOVABLE VS. IRRESISTIBLE
In picturing some of the obstacles which the Allies will have to surmount if they make a direct invasion of the European continent from the west, Ralph Henson, a United Press correspondent who recently returned from a long stay in a German concentration camp, portrayed the Atlantic coast or west wall as being virtually impregnable. Along most of this line, he said, permanent defenses have been installed and these are manned by a million men.

The Germans have, it is known, spent the last three years fortifying this zone. Moreover, it is known that the Germans are past masters in the diabolical art of planting mines and booby traps and handling other death-dealing devices. But the Allies haven't been idle. These defenses are no surprise to them. They doubtless know much of what has been going on, for commando raids and parachutists have enabled them to infiltrate enemy lines and emerge with important and valuable information.

Without in any sense minimizing the strength of the west wall or the ferocity of the Nazis who guard it, two thoughts come to mind. First, and foremost, is that the Allied military command perhaps understands both phases better than any layman. Second, those stories of a few years ago about the impregnable Maginot Line. That, it is believed by the French and perhaps the belief was shared by the British and the Americans, was France's guarantee for all time against German invasion.

The Maginot Line today, what there is left of it, is a relic about as out of date as the lances and coats of mail worn by ancient knights.

When a defense line becomes "impregnable" and is so advertised by its builders with sufficient conviction to convince the enemy, the latter usually seeks other ways of breaching it than by a frontal attack. As a matter of history, there never has been any such thing as an "impregnable" line, or fortress or other means of defense. No matter how strong, no matter how formidable, it confronts the enemy with a challenge to break through it, and, eventually, such attempts always have succeeded. What has happened, for example, to Goering's famous anti-aircraft defenses of Germany; so strong that he once told his people that "no foreign bombs will ever fall upon Germany?"

How the invasion will be launched, where it will strike, when it will start, nobody knows except a few members of the Allied high command. But of this we can be certain: It will not be launched in ignorance of Germany's strength and determination to hold the western outposts of Germany itself. Neither will it be launched until adequate plans have been worked out to render it useless immediately after the first blow.

The German people may have been led to believe that the line cannot be penetrated, that they are safe from the Allied Armies. But the Nazi higher command knows differently. It may be able to delay, but it cannot rebel the armies that will march when the invasion is launched. They would give much to know how the line will be breached, but they must know that it will.

UNDIPLOMATIC GREETINGS
I quote from a letter found in today's mail:

"Have you ever noticed how some people go out of their way, or so it seems to be undiplomatic? I am talking about type of person who greets you with: 'Haven't you gained weight?' 'You're looking tired today?' Haven't you been overworking?'"

The first reaction to such a blast is, "Is it intentional or merely thoughtlessness? Whatever it is, the reaction is the same—one of deep hurt or resentment."—I. R. A.

Answer: If you are one of those careless thoughtless talkers, guard yourself against this unfortunate trait. Nothing will cause a more rapid decline in your popularity than this form of expressing thoughts that should be suppressed. Make it a habit to say the kind thing always. The world seems filled with those cold water throwers. And I might add, they are the very ones who can't take it when it is thrown in their direction.

Question: Is it proper to use lighted candles on the tea table when it is still daylight?—J. J.

Answer: It is customary to draw the shades and light the candles even though it is still daylight. Candles add to the beauty of the table.

Question: I have a very good friend in the service. His mother and sister are going to visit him soon and he has asked them to bring me along. Since we are not engaged would it be proper for me to go?—Nancy.

Answer: Indeed, yes, it would be entirely proper since his mother will be with you.

Willkie Future Still Top Topic In Capital
Booster Not Through In General View Held
Women Are Divided In Opinions On War Work

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Not for months have I produced a suggestion that has brought the response of my prediction that Wendell Willkie is not only OUT of politics, but that he may even run as vice president on the Democratic ticket.

At Evelyn Walsh McLean's recent breakfast every public figure with whom I exchanged a pleasant "Good morning!" Isn't this a wonderful day?" I said.

"It certainly is. But listen, I'm interested in that idea about the future of Willkie. Now what I think is this—"

"All of the thoughts were practically identical. They agreed in this theme—Willkie is NOT out of politics. He has put himself in a more strategic position than he has occupied since running for the White House in 1940."

He can swing his influence in any direction. And will do so. "I'm convinced that he will come out in support of Roosevelt," a prominent Republican senator said, as we sat in the sunny garden at Friendship where most of Mrs. McLean's 200 guests gathered after the breakfast. "And when he does come out for Roosevelt, what am I going to say? Why, I've got the best line ready for the big moment you ever heard anybody speak. It tickles me to death just to think how appropriate it will be, so I'll not tell you now."

Democrats Shy
A southern senator said, "Of course the Republicans would be mighty glad to get rid of Wendell. He's the Old Man of the Sea to them. If they can shake him off to drift, the Democrats they'll be pleased to drift. But, money, you sure don't want Wendell!"

That Willkie's dramatic withdrawal as a candidate was smartly timed and likely insincere was the opinion of most of the people with whom I talked. "He's made himself seem slightly martyred," these unbuttoned said. "The martyr is a title that appeals to many voters. Dewey had better watch out for him."

The belated appointment of the dean of Vassar college as a member of the United States delegation to the London conference of Allied ministers of education makes almost anybody wonder if women are really interested in holding the public influence in the post-war world they fought so hard to gain before World War I came upon us.

If women do want to hold political and social equality with men, why did they not manage to get some woman properly appointed to such an important post without the last-minute rushing about? What are the women's organizations thinking about at the moment? How are they planning to justify their existence as guardians of women's rights?

Women Seem Apathetic
The Federation of Women's Clubs, the Daughters of the American Revolution, the League of Women Voters, the Women's Party—here are millions of organized women. Are they merely listless about the future? Or do they see the handwriting on the wall that promises to send the army of women now doing men's work back into the home where some old-fashioned people think they really do belong?

The right answer to these questions seems confused. Many young women, brand new war mothers, who are struggling to manage young children and war jobs at the same time, say quite clearly that they want to give up their war jobs the instant their men come home.

The older women who have raised their families want to keep their new jobs and their pay checks. Such attitudes as these are only a small part of the big post-war program organized women should be considering.

Criticism, enough it was not a woman who got the dean of Vassar her last-minute appointment to the United States delegation of educators at London. It was a man close to the White House who rang up the state department and said, "Look here, when you made out that list of delegates did you forget that this country has women? But get a woman in the crowd—quick!"

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDIS

When Dr. John F. Erdmann, famous New York surgeon celebrated on his eightieth birthday a few days ago, he was asked how he would find time to keep up with the new developments in medicine, he replied:

"A busy surgeon has to keep up or he won't be very long. Little Anna Casinelli was presented with an award diploma at the Hospital for Special Surgery last week."

For forty-five of her fifty-two years that hospital has been her home. "Cassie" came to the hospital when she was seven, suffering from a bone disease which stopped her growth at just about three feet and left her able to walk only on crutches.

First she was classified as a patient. Then she was put on the payroll, making orthopedic corsets and surgical supports.

She keeps busy every minute of the day and is beloved by everybody in the hospital because of her cheerfulness and the help she gives to others.

"Grandma Chiva," whose real name was Chiva Kalinsky died at the Brooklyn Hebrew Home for the Aged at the age of 106.

The day before she died she had just finished a white dress to wear during the holidays.

Sunday Peacefully
Sunday night, April 19, I went to bed peacefully. During the night she passed peacefully away in her sleep.

"Grandma Chiva" was a Russian immigrant. Her hobby was occupational therapy. "As long as you keep busy you live," was her belief. "When you stop you die and you can be dead even when you are still alive."

This morning we took my mother-in-law to the hospital. She is seventy-six.

The doctor says she won't last long—worn out, nothing to do about it.

Up to about six months ago she was always busy, sometimes with her own affairs, sometimes with mine.

Then she began to lose interest in life. Soon she was sitting around aimlessly, doing nothing, vegetating. When she goes, the diagnosis will probably be old age.

My diagnosis will be "She was bored to death."

Co-ed Journalism Students Publish Globe This Week

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., April 20.—Co-ed journalism students at Westminster College took complete charge of publishing this week's issue of the New Wilmington Globe, local community newspaper.

All members of a class in news reporting and editing, the girls had complete charge of all branches of the paper except the printing. They wrote all columns, editorials and news stories, interviewed local citizens, solicited advertising, wrote headlines, and supervised make-up of the pages. All work was part of the practical training given the students as a regular part of their journalism course.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

lege but often have been seriously slighted in the elementary grades. Besides, ever so many teacher who do not understand the basic philosophy of "progressive education," and have not been properly trained in its application, have supposed falsely, that hand and foot work always pre-suppose head work. During their activity, many children have not learned enough inner response and self-control to calm down sufficiently to do hard mental work.

While some good has also come to the home from "progressive education," it is there that extreme theories of "progressivism" have been most destructive, I think.

Most parents seem to believe that progressive methods of up-bringing require that: (1) The child should first of all "have freedom of expression," that restraint would warp his personality. (2) The child should not be required to do what he does not want to do. Parents must be skillful enough to make washing dishes, scrubbing floors, peeling potatoes and the like so alluring that the youngster just can't resist from wanting to do them. (3) That parents can't teach ideals with words, but through immediate situations only.

More than anybody else, I think, the extremist in "progressive education" is responsible for the lack of emphasis on direct character education in recent years, in school and home. If what I have already said be true, then the extreme doctrines of this progressive movement, so widely accepted throughout America, especially among the intelligentsia, must have made some contribution to our national disaster of mounting juvenile delinquency.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. Is it ever wise to express surprise at what a child does not know or tell him a much younger child "knows that"?
A. I think not.

Q. If a spouse or adolescent child seemed to be mentally ill, how may one proceed wisely to get this member of the family to see a psychiatrist for proper examination or treatment?
A. By having your family doctor see the person and refer him to the proper expert. Since the psychiatrist has an M.D., skillful procedure need not arouse resistance or suspicion in the patient.

Q. My husband will sometimes tease our boys till they get angry and then punish them.
A. Too bad there is not effective punishment in this world for such a father. He should have more sense.

Q. When I say to my boy, six, "Please don't do that," of something he knows he should not do, he may continue until I repeat several times and finally shriek at him.
A. In this case do not make a request. Command just once in normal tones and if he does not obey immediately, paddle him soundly or assign him to sit, for punishment, in a chair doing nothing for exactly 40 minutes.

CRUELTY

Sometimes in our study and practice of mental hygiene, we run across some peculiar traits.

There are many signs or symptoms of mental trouble. Cruelty is one of them.

Cruelty is especially significant when it occurs in a child. When a little boy or girl seems to take delight in being cruel or causing pain, there is something wrong somewhere.

Mental disease is much like disease of the body. There are many diseases which last only a short time. They do not need much treatment. They are gone in a few days.

Some mental diseases are like that. The child grows out of them. Other conditions tend to get worse. If they are not treated promptly, they tend to become chronic or incurable.

If this symptom of cruelty appears, the child needs medical attention to find out whether or not there is any mental trouble.

These mental symptoms are called "Behavior Signs." If a child has a pain or a cough or a rash, we figure that there may be something wrong with the body. If he has some of these behavior signs, there may be something wrong with the mind.

FIRST ASSAULT ON SUMATRA IS MADE BY ALLIES

By JOHN E. LEE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, April 20.—Allied warships cooperating with United Nations forces battling the Japanese in India and Burma, were revealed today to have bombarded enemy positions at Sabang, off the northern tip of Sumatra, in the first assault since the enemy invaded the East Indies.

Deep Into Enemy Waters

The blow, described officially as "successful," carried the allied naval units deep into enemy waters and hit hard at a vital supply port and communications center for the Japanese garrisons throughout the Asiatic area.

In charge of the attacking formations which struck early Wednesday morning was British Admiral Sir James Somerville, commander of the empire's eastern fleet.

A brief admiralty announcement hinted that the force still may be operating in enemy waters when it declared that additional details will be released "as soon as possible."

The text of the statement follows: "A successful attack was carried out early Wednesday against Sabang at the north end of Sumatra by an allied naval force commanded by Admiral Sir James Somerville. This force suffered no damage. Further details will be published as soon as possible."

Switch In Drive

The assault against Sabang, which lies just above the tip of Sumatra off the eastern flank of a strategic channel known as the Bengali pass, was viewed as an indication that Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten has supplemented his drive against the Japanese with a naval offensive as soon as possible after switching his headquarters to Ceylon last Sunday.

That attack was carried out by naval planes without the loss of a single craft.

Sabang is on the direct route from Ceylon to Singapore, at the halfway point between those two bastions. It possesses an excellent harbor and would be a natural choice for an advanced base.

Observers said the attack presumably was carried out by "large ships" operating with patrol planes.

Session On May 1 Restricted To Measures To Facilitate Soldier Voting

By JOHN PAGET
U. S. Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, April 20—Gov. Edward Martin's formal call convening the general assembly for a special session May 1 was restricted today to the adoption of measures to facilitate absentee voting by members of the armed forces and related service organizations and to earmark funds to defray the cost of the 36th annual governors' conference at Harrisburg May 28 to 31.

A bi-partisan committee headed by republican and democratic leaders will meet with the governor today to give final approval to the legislation designed to accomplish the administration's four-point program. The bills will be ready for presentation to the lawmakers when they convene in the state capital at noon. Governor Martin was expected to address them in a joint session of the house and senate.

A spokesman for the committee supervising arrangements for the governors' conference said a decision had not been reached on the amount needed for the four-day meeting of the nation's governors but added that the costs of former meetings ranged between $35,000 and $50,000.

One Week's Session
The agenda of the special session, which the governor hopes to confine to one week, also will include a provision for an appropriation for the costs of the extraordinary meeting. Approximately $360,000 will be needed for salaries of legislators and employees and other costs.

The governor's call authorized the legislators to consider measures to enable members of the armed forces, merchant marine, the American Red Cross, the society of Friends, the United Service Organizations and the Women's Auxiliary Service Pilots (WASPs) to vote in any primary, special or general election during the duration of the war.

Members of the service organizations must be attached to military units to be eligible for absentee ballots under the proposed law.

The other major point in the call authorizes the state defense council, its local units and other organizations to canvass the homes of members of the armed forces and service organizations for correct military addresses. An undisclosed appropriation will be made to defray costs of the survey.

Plans call for local election boards to sit at polling places on "military ballot day" to receive military addresses prior to mailing ballots to eligible voters. Approximately 100 days will be permitted the recipients to return ballots to local election officials with the deadline about 10 days after the November 7 general election. The ballots will contain the names of federal and state candidates.

In addition to the subjects outlined by the governor, the senate must act on scores of executive appointments made by Governor Martin since the 1943 session adjourned last May. If the executive nominations committee fails to act on all the appointments, the governor may grant new interim appointments to the same persons pending the regular session in 1945.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

ward a President after a second term than after his first, and much more, of course, after a third term than after the second. As to the feeling against waste, it is equally inevitable that the vast increase in taxes and in the number of taxpayers should create greater interest in and desire for economy.

The Byrd movement has been stimulated by this sentiment. It also has been stimulated by Mr. Lawrence Sullivan's striking book, "Bureaucracy Runs Amuck." In this Mr. Sullivan documents and expands many of the charges which Senator Byrd has been making for years. For example, he points out that the Government now carries on its civil payroll more than 3,300,000 employees; that in 1942 the grocery manufacturers of the country had with 21 separate bureaus in Washington; that the cost of government publicity is $70,000,000 a year—equal to the cost of 250 Flying Fortresses; that Mr. Ickes heads 18 Federal agencies and Mr. Jesse Jones is a director in 33; that through executive orders and rulings scores of bureaus and boards are promulgating laws never passed by Congress, etc., etc.

IT IS interesting to note that the Sullivan book has so aroused Administration antagonism that some really high officials have undertaken a personal letter-writing campaign against it, the net result of which, however, seems to be the reverse of what was intended. The certainty that the facts in this volume will be used in the coming campaign, perhaps, accounts for the effort to offset them in various ways. They are not very effective. For example, recently about a hundred OWI employees, whose activities and connections were deemed to radical, were "purged" and, thus, both the size and cost of the huge sprawling agency somewhat reduced.

But this "purge" was quickly offset by the announcement that one for more writers were being employed to meet the increased demands for propaganda abroad. That kind of "shrinkage" which adds force to the charges that the Federal pay rolls are indefinitely swollen; that the whole Federal structure is overmanned, overlapping and complicated to the degree where competent government has become impossible.

THE STRATEGY of the fourth terms in the coming campaign is to stress the war and avoid all discussion of domestic affairs. In that program the President is in complete accord. The things that stand in the way are movements like that of Senator Byrd, and the Republican party. Just as it is the fourth-term plan to concentrate on the war and insist that Mr. Roosevelt's retention is essential to its winning, it is the Republican contention that a change in Administration will not affect the conduct of the war at all, but that new domestic management is necessary if the American system is to be rescued from the extreme radicals and incompetents. The outcome depends upon which side can impress the most voters with its thesis. The Republicans are handicapped by the obvious propaganda advantages of the Administration. Their hope is in the accumulation of "reputations" against a candidate who has held on too long.

Urges Early Plan In Pennsylvania For Postwar Era

STATE COLLEGE, April 20.—Anticipating intense competition from newly-developed industries in the south and west, Dr. C. W. Hasek of Pennsylvania State college today proposed early planning within each community to insure the industrial supremacy of Pennsylvania in the postwar world.

Dr. Hasek, who is head of the economics department at Penn State and chairman of the newly-organized Research Committee on Economic Development in Pennsylvania, outlined the practice of looking to Washington for federal aid and adjustment and urged community leaders to go to work immediately on their own problems.

"It is not wise," he commented, "to expect that the solution of problems of industrial decay, unemployment and other economic ills is to be found in the benevolence of a central government."

Revealing that more than 25 Pennsylvania communities already had sought the aid of his committee, Dr. Hasek said it was the responsibility of each community to discover its own weaknesses, and plan for the days ahead. He said every community should work "to insure such industrial activity and further expansion that every man fit for a job after the war, can find one in keeping with his abilities."

Deferment For Students In WACS

College And Business Students
Can Enroll And Complete Courses

College and business school students enlisting in the Women's Army Corps may be deferred for any length of time they wish, not to exceed four months, it was announced today by Lt. Jo Ann Slikeman, local WAC recruiting officer.

Lt. Slikeman pointed out that there is a great need in the army for women with college and business school training and that they are being offered a wide choice of jobs to make certain their skills and abilities are utilized to the fullest. They are especially needed to be physics laboratory assistants, chemical laboratory assistants, artists, weather observers, public relations officers, draftsmen and classification specialists.

Army statistics show that approximately 25 per cent of the members of the Women's Army Corps have attended college. Lt. Penney's Anniversary

1902-1944

THE dictionary says that a good neighbor is one who helps, serves, obliges, encourages, stretches out a helping hand.

A good neighbor keeps the latch-string out, is always cordial, warm-hearted, making neighbors feel welcome and at home.

The most valued achievement of our 42 years in business is the reputation we have made for being good neighbors.

From the very first, Mr. Penney treasured the confidence and good-will of his customers as his best stock-in-trade.

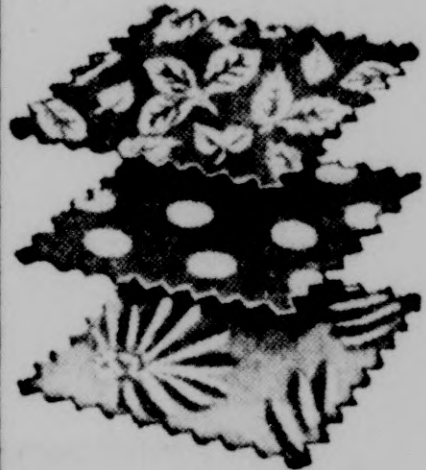

And so, after 42 years, does your Penney store today.

The first J. C. Penney store in Kemmerer, Wyo., was called the "Golden Rule," a name which aptly describes the Penney way of doing business

YOUR GOOD NEIGHBOR

for 42 Years

WHAT we like best to hear people say of us is "Penney's is a neighborhood store." And that's what we do hear . . . often!

For at Penney's we have never outgrown the simple, friendly way of doing business that makes people feel welcome and at home.

We've never outgrown it—in all our 42 years. Back in April 1902, Mr. Penney opened his first store in Kemmerer, Wyoming—a store devoted to friendly service and thrifty prices. And the spirit of that first store has spread to every one of our stores, in over 1600 American communities.

The people who work here at Penney's are neighbors of yours and they try to act as good neighbors should. They sympathize with your likes and dislikes. They belong to this town!

And so does the store where they work! That's why shopping here is so easy, so pleasant!

In time of peace, each passing Penney anniversary was a time for celebration and ceremony.

But this year, upon our 42nd Anniversary, we celebrate simply with a reaffirmation of the Penney spirit—a determination to remain as homelike and neighborly as our many friends expect us to be.

Stockdale Speaks At Johnson Bronze Plant Wednesday

Two More 'Soldiers Of Production' Meetings Are Conducted In City

Continuing the "Soldiers of Production" meetings in industrial plants of New Castle, Dr. Allen A. Stockdale, chairman of the Speakers Bureau of the Industrial Information Committee of the National Association of Manufacturers, addressed two meetings in the Johnson Bronze Company's plant Wednesday, the first one at 2:45 and the second at 11 P. M. Both meetings were well attended.

The meetings opened with the employees singing the "Star Spangled Banner" directed by Griff Thomas. President J. Preston Flaherty introduced Dr. Stockdale and prefaced his introduction with a short address.

"This war isn't over yet," said Mr. Flaherty. "Men who should know estimate it will last another two years. This means work, and more work. It means production by such plants as ours. It means teamwork and co-operation. It means that every American, not in uniform must do his job as well as the men who are fighting."

"Remember the 521?" "You men and women of the Johnson Bronze Company have a personal interest in this war," said Dr. Stockdale. "Out of your plant has gone 521 employees, four of them are dead and one is a prisoner somewhere overseas. Remember that they are on the job for you and me, remember that unless you keep on your job they may not have the tools to do theirs."

"It is so easy to slack a little on our job back here at home. But if all of us would stop and think of the men and women who are in the armed forces, the desire to ease up a bit would vanish. You people of the Johnson Bronze Company can't let those 521 fellow employees down. They are depending upon you, they are expecting you to stick with them in the job they are doing for all of us."

The meeting concluded with the singing of "God Bless America," directed by Griff Thomas.

Mass Trial Of 30 Persons Accused of Sedition To Get Under Way

By FRANK B. ALLEN (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Lawyers prepared today for the task expected to run into next week—of choosing jurors to hear evidence in the mass trial of 30 persons accused by the government of sedition-conspiracy.

Chief Justice Edward Eicher of the District of Columbia Federal District Court cleared the decks for empanelling the jury by overruling numerous defense objections to the procedure.

Meanwhile, there was a storm of protest by defense lawyers and news representatives over limiting the number of reporters present during the jury selection, and their exclusion from a brief session late yesterday.

News reporters were not readmitted after a recess, while 12 prospective jurors were brought into the courtroom—but were not examined.

The Cullinan diamond was found on January 26, 1905, in the Premier Mine near Pretoria, Transvaal and weighed 3.024 carats, or about 1.37 pounds. It was presented to King Edward VII by the Transvaal government, and two stones were cut from it to be used for the British scepter and crown.

An Essential Worker

Every line of industrial and business activity is seeking men who have proved their ability to do certain tasks.

The biggest business in the United States of America today is the business of operating our government, and here no less than elsewhere the demand is for men of proven ability, men willing to work long hours, men showing by their record that they have an understanding of the basic principles of our system of government, men who will not be swayed by the whims of the moment nor the demands of pressure groups from doing that which they believe to be for the ultimate good of our people.

The truly progressive man in political life is not the man who acceded to every new demand for change, but carefully weighs all the present facts against past history and bases his judgment and action upon them. He is the man who by training and experience is able to find the flaws in the specious arguments of crackpots and demagogues, and by logic and reasoning expose them as such. He is the man who dares to stand firm in his principles even though for the moment they may not be popular.

We know that we have such a man in our present Congressman Louis E. Graham. We know this from following closely his record of activity as a member of congress. We know it from the words we have had from his fellow congressmen on both sides of the political fence.

We are certain that the Republican party will be in control of the national government after the next election by the vote of Americans who have been making every sacrifice to win the war and yet feel that those sacrifices have not been made effective because of political bungling at Washington. Next year when the control of congress returns to the Republican party, we must have men who are trained, men who know the work, men who understand the operations of congress, in order that the mandate of the people may be made effective.

That Louis E. Graham is one of these we are certain, not only because of our own knowledge of him, but also because of the confidence expressed in him by the leaders of the Republican party as evidenced by the following telegram recently received from our party leader in the National House of Representatives:

"Hope you will do everything to bring about renomination of your Congressman Louis E. Graham. He has been a great help to us here in our fight for constitutional government and a sane administration. We will need him next year to help carry out our construction program.

Boy Is Killed; Six Injured By Explosion

JESSUP, Pa., April 20.—(INS)—An explosion which cost the life of one boy and injured six others last night on a baseball field at Jessup was probed today by Lackawanna county detectives and state police. They said the boys found an exploded used by miners to set off dynamite charges and that they attached a fuse to it and exploded it.

George Onuklavage, 9, caught the brunt of the blast near the heart and dropped dead after running 300 feet to the home of his grandmother, with whom he lived. Six other boys suffered lacerations and burns but were not seriously injured.

Urge Reduction In Number Of State Teachers Colleges

Association Of College Presidents Would Cut Number From 14 To 6

HARRISBURG, April 20.—(INS)—The reduction of state teachers colleges in Pennsylvania from 14 to six and widespread administrative changes in the commonwealth's educational system were called for today by the Association of College Presidents of Pennsylvania.

The association, representing almost 60 colleges and universities in the state, urged that the General Assembly enact legislation releasing eight teachers colleges for "the vocational and welfare needs not now adequately provided for in the state."

The program adopted by the association, which met at Harrisburg yesterday, also included the following points:

1. Appointment of the superintendent of public instruction by the State Council of Education with the governor's approval, for a six-year term and subject to reappointment. Superintendents are now appointed by the governor for four-year terms.

2. Enlargement of the powers of the State Council of Education, now an advisory body, so that it would be responsible for the state's educational program, with authority to remove as well as appoint the state superintendent by a three-fourths vote with the approval of the governor.

3. The state council to be increased from 9 to 12 members, appointed for six-year terms.

4. Establishment by the state of a system of competitive scholarships, including 4,000 four-year scholarships for undergraduate study, 1,000 to be awarded annually. The scholarships would have a value of $300 for a college year of two 16-week terms or its equivalent, but not to exceed $1200 for the full college course.

The program was formulated by Presidents R. L. Johnson of Temple University, chairman of the association's committee on plans and policies; R. C. Hutchison of Washington & Jefferson college, executive director of the State Defense Council; and E. V. Stanford of Villanova college.

CRASH-PROOF GAS TANK SEEN IN POSTWAR CARS

AKRON, April 20.—"The wrecked cars broke into flames after the collision, and the occupants were burned to death."

This paragraph in a news story in the postwar world may not have to be written if technicians of the rubber industry can help to prevent it.

Bullet-sealing fuel cells, one of the industry's greatest contributions to today's warplanes, may be the forerunners of crash-proof gasoline tanks in postwar automobiles.

In fact, George W. Vaught, vice president of the B. F. Goodrich Co., says the crash-proof gasoline tank was a "very likely" possibility.

"There will be room for both synthetic and natural rubber in the postwar emergency world if we adopt sound policies," he said.

Fuel hose, pumps, diaphragms, packing and brake linings are other fields where synthetic rubber's greater oil resistance and special heat-resisting qualities can be invaluable, he added.

Breslin Supporters Obtain Injunction

Injunction Restrains 'State Treasury Club' From Making Political Contributions

HARRISBURG, April 20.—(INS)—Supporters of John F. Breslin, independent Democratic candidate for auditor general, aimed a body blow today at the candidacy of State Treasurer G. Harold Wagner, endorsed by the state committee for the $12,000-a-year post, by obtaining an injunction under the anti-machining law to restrain the "State Treasury club" from making political contributions.

The injunction was granted in Dauphin county court yesterday by President Judge William M. Hargest upon the petition of Edward B. Koser of Harrisburg, a former treasury department employee.

Judge Hargest granted the injunction for 15 days pending the filing by the officers of the club of a record of its finances. The petition stated that membership in the club was compulsory. More than 300 employees have been enrolled, the petition claimed.

Koser stated in his petition that the club "never held a meeting and the members of the club never received a statement or accounting from the treasurer" of finances.

"Your petitioner has reason to believe and therefore avers that the said club, of which he is a member, was organized merely to circumvent the macing act of 1939," Koser's petition asserted.

Dues have been collected, the petition stated, based on a percentage of an employee's salary.

The club's officers named in the petition were Henry L. Graham, president; Florence Kelley, treasurer, and Elizabeth Hoffmaster, secretary.

Kiwanians Hear Siegfried Speak

Bell Telephone Manager Gives Illustrated Talk On 'Communication In War Time'

New Castle Kiwanis club members heard Charles E. Siegfried, manager of the New Castle office of the Bell Telephone Company discuss "Telephone Communication in War Time," at their noon luncheon meeting in The Castleton, Wednesday noon.

Mr. Siegfried told how the Bell Telephone Company had anticipated the war, and completed its trans-continental cable line just before it was broken, thus greatly facilitating telephone service across the country.

He also showed the automatic gun pointer and range finder, which has been a big factor in the Allies war against enemy aircraft, resulting in the destruction of far more enemy planes than had been anticipated. The program was arranged through the courtesy of Kiwanian K. H. Beck.

Roger Jewett, executive vice president of the Greater New Castle Association, announced today that President Marshall G. Matheny, acting under the by-laws of the association, had appointed Charles H. Johnson, Jr., Emanuel Shenkan and Attorney William J. Caldwell as directors of the association to fill the directorate.

At the same time it was announced that the school board had named Director Clyde M. Whitaker as the board's representative on the association directorate, the county commissioners have named Commissioner Earl R. Wimer as their director and city council has re-appointed Councilman D. O. Davies as the councilman's representative. The appointments announced today complete the board of directors for the G.N.C.A. for the year. Elected directors were named recently by the membership.

LOCUSTS WILL NOT DAMAGE GARDENS

HARRISBURG, April 20.—Victory gardeners need have no fear of crop damage from the 17-year locusts that are scheduled to visit various counties in Pennsylvania this year and next, according to Dr. T. L. Guyton, director, Bureau of Plant Industry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

Seventeen-year locusts, whose scientific name is periodical cicada, damage only trees and shrubs that have bark, but do not eat leaves of garden plants or vegetation of any kind. The female locust cut slits in the bark or twigs in which to deposit their eggs in it is these slits that weaken twigs and small branches which frequently break and hang down. With the sap flow cut off, the leaves on the twig die. A tree that has large numbers of such injuries soon has the appearance of being dead on most outer branches.

About the only way to protect valuable young fruit trees or shrubs from locust damage is to cover them with mosquito netting or other cheap mesh during the approximately six weeks that the locust are active from late May to early July, Dr. Guyton says.

Brood One of the 17-year locust is due to appear this year in Adams, Cumberland and Franklin counties. Brood Two will invade the following 15 counties in 1945: Berks, Bucks, Chester, Dauphin, Delaware, Lancaster, Lebanon, Lehigh, Montgomery, Northampton, Philadelphia, Pike, Potter, Schuylkill and Wyoming.

The Cleveland Museum of Art recently acquired small gold pendants excavated in Panama and dating before the discovery of America. It is believed that they were worn by chiefs. None are more than three or four inches in size, and most are odd little animals.

Forecast Senate Battle To Restrict Lend-Lease Plans

House Passes Measure Extending Lend-Lease For Period Of One Year

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
U. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 20.—A Senate fight to impose restrictions on legislation to extend the lend-lease act was forecast today after a similar movement failed when the House yesterday voted a one year extension by a vote of 334 to 21.

The extent of the Senate fight may be determined by the outcome of an investigation of lend-lease now being conducted by the staff of the Senate appropriations committee.

"I think lend-lease will be continued, but there may be some limitations inserted," said Sen. Butler (R-Neb.), who last year demanded a congressional investigation of lend-lease.

"I think that the Senate will like to know what the total overall picture is. It is a bit confusing when funds appear to be available for lend-lease from so many different sources."

"The total expended by lend-lease is far more than has been appropriated for it."

Sen. Nye, N. D., ranking Republican on the appropriations committee, said a demand would be made for the lend-lease investigating report of the appropriations committee before action is taken.

"I am sure there will be insistence that this report be made available before lend-lease extension is voted," he said.

"But if any substantial change is made in lend-lease, there has got to be a demonstration of grave nature. It has got to be something more than just charges of abuses."

School Bond Sale

Display In Window

Display of the work done by schools of the city in promoting the sale of war stamps and bonds is attracting attention of passersby to a window of the Winter Company, Washington street.

It illustrates the various ways in which schools stimulate sales of stamps and bonds. Included is a large picture of the hospital plane, a Douglas C-47, that has been bought by purchases through schools.

Total sales to date, according to a poster in the window, are $457,668.20.

President Says Foundation Being Laid For New Deal

PHILADELPHIA, April 20.—(INS)—President Roosevelt told the international labor organization today it was laying the foundation for a new deal for the world.

The president told the delegates that in their recommendations "will be the production of those agreements in the field of labor and social standards which must be part of any permanent international arrangement for a decent world."

His statement, which authorized the conference to act as the official world social planning agency, was contained in a letter of welcome read to delegates from the 40 nations represented at the opening session by U. S. Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins.

Mellon Issues Statement On Farm Deferment

HARRISBURG, April 20.—(INS)—A plan to aid local draft boards in determining the essentiality of farm workers seeking military deferments was announced today by

Col. Richard K. Mellon, state draft director.

"Under the plan," the announcement stated, "county U.S.D.A. war boards will submit reports to local boards of the Selective Service system in specific cases. The local boards will give 'full consideration' to these reports in determining whether registrants shall or shall not be deferred as 'necessary men' in agriculture."

The war boards will measure agricultural activities and labor by use of a "point system" intended to provide local boards with a yardstick to determine proper classification of farm workers, it was stated.

The plan was formulated jointly by Secretary of Agriculture M. L. Forst, state county war boards, the agricultural extension service, the bureau of agricultural economics and the Federal agricultural adjustment agency for Pennsylvania.

From 1920 to 1941 over a million and a half miles of U.S. highways were surfaced at a cost of more than $40 billion.

Motorists Must Keep Their Tire Inspection Record

HARRISBURG, April 20.—(INS)—Although the requirement for periodic tire inspections is being lifted today, motorists must still keep their tire inspection records.

the Harrisburg district office of price administration explained. "The tire inspection form, which contains a record of all gasoline rationing issued to an automobile as well as a record of tire inspections, must be presented to the ration board whenever application is made for a gasoline or tire ration. It must be kept with the automobile when it is being operated and must be transferred if it is sold."

Two New Castle Gas Stations Are Ordered Closed

PITTSBURGH, April 20.—(INS)—Two New Castle gasoline dealers today had been ordered out of business by the Office of Price Administration for accepting counterfeit gasoline coupons.

Hearing Commissioner John O'Rourke ordered Charles Moses operating Moses service station, to close his station by May 15, and gave R. C. Stevenson until June 20 to get out of business. Both suspensions are for the duration of the war.

Eleven filling stations in western Pennsylvania had been previously closed by the OPA but the closing was done by a system of debiting the ration coupon accounts of the dealers so heavily that they could obtain no further supplies.

In the cases of the two New Castle operators they were simply closed up under OPA powers.

War Prisoners Will Be Used To Aid Canning Work

WILMINGTON, Del., April 20.—(INS)—Nearly 2,000 German war prisoners will be sent to Delaware for farm and canning work next month, Army authorities announced today.

Most of the prisoners will be quartered at Ft. DuPont, six miles from Wilmington, an Army spokesman said. Additional facilities for about 500 men are being prepared in southern Delaware, he added.

Elmer H. Smith, acting state war manpower commissioner, said the need for the prisoners for war labor had been certified through WMC, which was satisfied that no other labor was available, in sufficient quantities.

Paul Become a Missionary

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Paul and Barnabas at Lystra.

"The Holy Spirit said, Separate me Barnabas and Saul for the work whereunto I have called them."—Acts 13:2.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for April 23 is Acts 13:1-14:28, the Golden Text being Acts 13:2. "The Holy Spirit said, Separate me Barnabas and Saul for the work whereunto I have called them.")

OUR LAST lesson told us that Barnabas and Paul stayed a whole year at Antioch preaching and teaching.

"Now there were in the church that was at Antioch certain prophets and teachers; as Barnabas, and Simeon that was called Niger, and Lucius of Cyrene, and Manaen, which had been brought up with Herod the Tetrarch, and Saul." These were the men who were gathered at Antioch, and the Holy Ghost said to them, "Separate me Barnabas and Saul for the work whereunto I have called them."

That meant that these two were to go forth on a missionary journey—said news for their brethren in Antioch—but they never faltered, but blessed these two and sent them on their way.

Go First to Seleucia

They went first to Seleucia, and from thence sailed to Cyprus. Look on the map to see where Seleucia was in relation to Antioch, and the island of Cyprus with Salamis on its east coast, where they preached the word of God in the synagogues to the Jews. On the opposite side of the island of Cyprus was Paphos, where they had their first real adventure of the journey. A man who was a sorcerer, a false prophet, a Jew whose name was Bar-jesus, was with the Roman deputy, Sergius Paulus, a Christian but faltering in his loyalty because of this man.

Paulus called for Saul (now Paul) and Barnabas, asking them to tell him the word of God. When Paul saw this sorcerer and realized that for the sake of his own comfortable living he was trying to turn Paulus away from Christ, he said, "O full of subtlety and all mischief, thou child of the devil, thou enemy of all righteousness, wilt thou not cease to pervert the right ways of the Lord?"

"And now, behold, the hand of the Lord is upon thee, and thou shalt be blind, not seeing the sun for a season." And so it was that Bar-jesus or Elymas, the sorcerer, was struck blind, and he went about seeking someone to lead him by the hand.

The churches now visited by Paul and Barnabas are not mentioned anywhere in the gospels except in Acts.

After leaving Perga they went to Antioch in Phrygia, not to be confused with the Antioch in Syria.

from which they had come. Here they went into the synagogue on the Sabbath and sat down. At the close of the prayers, psalm reading, etc., of the service the rulers of the synagogue asked Paul and Barnabas to stand and give whatever message they had to the congregation. Paul rose and preached one of the few sermons we have on record. He told of his love for Israel, his respect for the Jewish faith, and his concern for the welfare of the Jews to whom he was speaking.

Jesus Of David's Line

He spoke of Jesus coming from the line of David, referring often to Old Testament prophecies. Then he came to his central theme—the death of the Man Jesus, according to prophecy, and His resurrection from the dead. By this person whom God raised from the dead, do you have forgiveness of sins and justification, in believing, said the apostle.

At the end of the service many Gentiles begged the apostles to preach the word to them the next Sabbath, and the next Sabbath came almost the whole city together to hear the word to God. This roused the envy and anger of the unconverted Jews and they stirred up trouble so that eventually Paul and Barnabas shook the dust of Antioch from their feet and went on to Iconium, where the disciples welcomed them with joy.

In Iconium both Jews and Greeks believed, but unbelieving Jews stirred up the Gentiles and while Paul and Barnabas spoke their message boldly, the city was divided. Their enemies assaulted them, so that they fled to Lystra and Derbe, where they preached the gospel.

Here they saw a man who had been crippled all his life. Paul, looking on the man, saw that he stood upright. He did, and he leaped and walked. When the people saw this they thought their Roman gods had come down to earth and wanted to sacrifice to them. Paul, much shocked, explained that they were mere men, but had a message for them. The fickle populace whereupon turned against them and stoned Paul so that he was thought to be dead, but he rose, and next day departed with Barnabas for Derbe.

Paul and Barnabas again made a round of the cities mentioned in this lesson. They ordained elders (the first mention of elders) and finally returned to their starting point in Antioch in Syria, where they abode a long time with the disciples.

G.O.P. Leaders Well Satisfied With Selections

Keynote And Permanent
Chairman For National Convention Please Party
Stalwarts

CHICAGO, April 20.—(INS)—Republican leaders departed from Chicago today expressing high satisfaction with the choice of the two chief figures for their national convention, the keynote and the permanent chairman.

Dividing the honors between the west and the east coasts, the committee on arrangements picked big broadshouldered Gov. Earl Warren of California as temporary chairman and keynote, and Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts as permanent chairman.

Martin, minority leader in congress, won acclaim for his conduct of the 1940 convention as permanent chairman.

Gov. Warren, notified of his selection in Sacramento, Cal., told newspaper men:

"Well, all I can say is if they ask me to do it, I'll do it. Beyond that there isn't anything for me to say."

The governor declined to give any intimation of the line he would take in the important keynote address, which is designed to state in broad terms the issues which the Republican party will stress in the forthcoming campaign.

Warren will head California's 50 delegates to the national convention, opening in Chicago June 26, and will be the "favorite son" of the delegation although he repeatedly has said he is not a candidate for the presidency.

Among members of the arrangements committee, of which William Hallahan of West Virginia is chairman, there was much talk of a ticket headed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York as president and Gov. Warren as his vice presidential running mate.

Dewey, who has refused to declare himself a candidate, nevertheless has shown himself extremely strong in every state where there has been any opportunity for an expression of sentiment while Warren has been represented by many as the one man who will carry California for the ticket if he is made the vice presidential nominee.

Others who had been proposed as potential keynotes included Governor Edward Martin of Pennsylvania.

Hero Holds Grenade To Save Comrades

West Virginia Farm Boy Is Hero In Episode In Italian Theatre

By LARRY NEWMAN
(U.S.S. Staff Correspondent)

AT A FORWARD HOSPITAL, on the Fifth Army Front in Italy, April 20.—"A few fingers ain't much; others have given lots more and no one ever heard about it," was the way in which the quiet West Virginia farm boy modestly shrugged aside his bravery today. Pvt. Cody L. Harvey, 22, of Jumping Branch, W. Va., described how he held a grenade in his hand after pulling the pin because it otherwise would have killed his friends. The decision he said, was made without thought as "there

"ALL-BRAN WORKED WONDERS FOR ME!"

Says Constipation Sufferer

There's real hope for common constipation sufferers in this unsolicited letter!

"Thanks for what KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN has done for me. I'm 75 years old. Had been taking pills and salts almost every night, a week ago, I started eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every morning. Soon I had regular movements without any trouble. I can't praise ALL-BRAN enough, it sure works wonders for me."

How can such amazing results for thousands be explained? Scientists say it's because KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is one of Nature's most effective sources of certain "cellulose" elements, lack of which in the diet is a common cause of constipation. They help the friendly colonic flora fluff up and prepare the colonic wastes for easy, natural elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative. Doesn't "sweep you out"! It's simply a gentle-acting, "regulating" food.

If you have constipation of this type, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly with milk and fruit, or mixed with other cereals. Drink plenty of water. See if you, too, don't get real help! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

was too little time to decide anything." Harvey said when he pulled the grenade from his pocket he heard a distinct "pop" and knew immediately that the firing-pin had been released.

"I was scared lots," he declared from his hospital bed today, "but realized that if I threw the grenade it would certainly kill my buddies who were all around. Without realizing what I was doing, I just gripped it tightly with my left hand, raised it outside the foxhole and pressed the ground. Then it exploded." When one of his hospital mates suggested to Harvey that he probably would be going home soon, the West Virginian private replied: "It's a tough way to go home—I didn't get a chance to fire my rifle at a German."

Boston Red Sox Baffle Yankees

Cleveland Bows To White Sox, And Browns Defeat Tigers

GOOD PITCHING WINS FOR GIANTS

By JOHN CASHMAN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, April 20.—What was to be the opening of baseball's tightest season apparently has tightened up into a series of close, bitterly-contested contests which lend a note of authority to the current draft-blasted campaign. In seven games yesterday, only one clash produced a fairly large score, one was won on a three-run margin, two on a two-run edge and three were ended on a one-run advantage.

Curiously enough, the world champion New York Yankees were on the light end of the heavy score as the Boston Red Sox edged out the New Yorkers in the first game of a double-header, 6 to 1. Pinky Woods outpitched three Yankee hitters and was helped by a five-run Red Sox rally in the sixth. Emmet O'Neill then went on before the Patriots day crowd of 13,656 to hold the Yanks to seven hits in the nightcap as his mates whipped out a 3 to 2 victory. Boston's Jim Tabor collected a homer, two doubles and a single.

Cleveland Crowd Slim
The Cleveland Indians were scalped by the Chicago White Sox, 3 to 1. Before a disappointingly small crowd of 3,705, Orval Grove spaced seven hits evenly through the game as his teammates lambasted Al Smith, Mel Harder and Paul Cliver for 10 safeties. It was the first game of the American league season for the two teams. Tuesday's contest having been washed out.

The St. Louis Browns took over the Detroit Tigers for the second successive day, 3 to 1. Steve Sundra pitched masterful ball and limited the Tigers to three hits. Rudy York got off to his annual start by blasting a home run in the fourth season. Detroit Pitcher Rufus Gentry was wild, walking eight men and hitting one.

The Philadelphia Athletics-Washington Senators game at the capital was postponed.
Hurlers Help Giants
The New York Giants are fast becoming one of the marvels of the National League. The Mel Otters, who weren't supposed to be able to tie their own shoes at the opening of the training season, now have two successive wins over the Boston Braves and both of them have been accomplished with fine pitching.

The first Giant hurling show was staged by victorious rookie Bill Voiselle on opening day and yesterday, Ewald Pyle pitched his first NL game, held the Braves to four hits in the Giants 2 to 1 triumph. Manager Ott's bat provided the actual victory with a first inning homer.
The Brooklyn Dodgers won their first game of the current campaign over the Philadelphia Phillies, 5 to 4, in 10 innings. Gil English started off the final frame with a walk. Howard Schultz singled to center and old Paul Waner drove in English with the winning run on a pinch single.

Riddle Produces
Another great pitching job was turned in by the Cincinnati Reds' Elmer Riddle, who limited the Chicago Cubs to three hits in the Reds' 2 to 1 victory. Ed Haneyowski, on the mound for the Cubs, was no slouch since he yielded only five safeties. Jimmy Fox, up as a pinch hitter after a year's absence from the majors, was walked by the cautious Riddle.
In all seven games, only 37 runs were scored, each team less than three, and a little more than 6 hits were registered per team.

Rickey Wears Forlorn Look

After Scrutinizing Make-Shift Dodgers He Returns To Brooklyn

MONTREAL REGALS WORRIES WALSH

By DAVIS J. MAGNARE

PHILADELPHIA, April 20.—Brother Rickey, the pious money changer, took one look at his Dodgers here Tuesday and went on back to Brooklyn last night. The Brother seemed to be having a swift unerring pang in the seat of the britches and his customary benign expression was that of one borne down by more than mortal man can be expected to endure.
Yet he had what is known as a "typical rickey team" coveting on behalf of the Brooklyn, so that part of it should have been all right. That is to say, he had in instead of the $25,000-a-year Camilli at first base, a $600-a-month hired man, Nee Schulz.

Adolescent At Short
He also had outfielder Louis Olmo at second base at a time when it is not clearly established that outfielder Olmo is an outfielder. He had, and will have, an 18-year-old adolescent at shortstop. But why prolong the gruesome inquest.
There might have been other reasons for the devout and meditative Rickey's decision to shoo his inopportunities last night, and one could have been that Rickey had been quartered in the same hotel with the annual meeting and get-together of the pro football league.

Anyhow, the Manhattan sort of irritated the pro league a few weeks ago by mentioning that Rickey had owned the park, which the pro league used, he saw no reason why, after the war, baseball should not move in on these boys.
Not Sufficient Royals
The ostensible reason for Mr. Rickey's incontinent departure, however, is the fact that his club owns and operates the Montreal Royals, and right now, with the International league season coming up tomorrow, they haven't enough Royals to make a flush.
Outside of that, though, everything is just superb around the Brooklyn club. However, there's no longer any question of Leo Durocher's status as manager. It has been solved in the most effective way possible. He now hasn't anything to manage.

Leo Was Defensive
The profound baffooneries attending upon the un-hiring and un-firing of Durocher last winter are equally simple of explanation. The devout Rickey found him first because he knew the guy wasn't going anywhere and wanted him with his trousers off. It's surprising how easy it is to strike a bargain with a man without trousers or maybe it isn't.
Anyhow, it's understood to be fact, not fable, that two days before he was signed again, Durocher had a job. In fact, it seems that not even Rickey knew Durocher had a job for the understanding is the former was really serious with Bill Terry on and by a certain Saturday. And by Monday, Durocher was signed all over again. The board of directors had declared itself in the meantime.

Expects Minors To Boom After War

Many Minor Leagues Are Predicted Two Years After Close Of War

MEMPHIS, April 20.—Southern Association President Billy Evans thinks baseball is in for an unprecedented boom after the war. He predicts "50 minor leagues will be in full operation two years after the fighting ends."
"The peak year in the minors was just before the war—we had 43 leagues outside the majors," asserted the former American league umpire today. "We should top that and have more good talent to draw from than ever in the history of the sport."

Evans said he based his optimistic outlook on three things:
(1) Development of new men who are plugging the gaps in today's ranks, many of whom wouldn't have been given a chance in normal times.
(2) Interest in baseball created among the millions of service men in their athletic training programs, which will uncover countless hidden "natural athletes."
(3) Return of many professional ball players now in the armed forces.

"A lot of the fellows who are getting good training in the leagues today probably would not have been looked at before the war," the Southern executive declared. "Many of them are going to make fine ballplayers."

"Then there are the men in the services who never had an idea of playing baseball but who will come out intent on making it a career."
"And as for those former ball players in uniform—the minors have contributed 4,000 since 1940, you know—well, we'll lose some, but most of them probably will return in good shape and anxious to go."
"Two or three years in the service shouldn't hurt their baseball if they're not injured. On it'll affect the 35 and 36-year-olds but the young fellows should have no trouble hitting their old time form."
"With so many to play baseball after the war, the game is in for a splurge."

PHILADELPHIA, April 20.—(INS)—The National Professional Football league's player draft for 1944 had been completed today with the league's newest member, the Boston Yanks, obtaining Angelo Bertelli, Notre Dame backfield star, in first round drawings.
With the exception of one player, Mervyn Prentiss, Michigan tackle, selected by the Green Bay Packers, all other first choices are backfield players. A majority are in the armed services.

Famous Polo Star Killed In Crash

Tommy Hitchcock, Greatest No. 2, Colorful, Reckless Player

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 20.—If Tommy Hitchcock, who was killed in a plane crash yesterday, had been as capable at baseball or boxing as he was at polo, he would be remembered by the multitude among the greatest athletes this country has seen.
He was rated the greatest No. 2 ever produced in this country and was a colorful, reckless competitor.
He was a gallant and intrepid warrior, too. He rose from the ranks to a commission at the age of 17 in the Lafayette Escadrille in the last war, became a pilot, was wounded and shot down. He escaped en route to a prison camp. A Lieutenant Colonel in this war, he had earned a combat flier's rating despite his age, 44, when it all ended in that plane crash yesterday in England.

Popularized Polo
He was riding horses at the age of three and at 20 already was an international polo star. He had a 10-goal rating through most of his career. He did more to popularize polo than any other man ever connected with the game.
He was a rough, tough, grim customer aboard a horse in a polo match. He played all-out to win at the risk of life and limb. When it was over he was a modest, generous winner or loser and will always be remembered as a very swell gentleman even by those of us who knew him only casually.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

How would you like to catch a 30-inch trout, weigh 6-4 pounds, Willard E. Deater of Sharon did. He took the rainbow of Lake Pleasant, Erie county. He used a copper chum wobbler and 30 minutes were required before it was landed. But Deater isn't the only fisherman to come forth with an extra sized trout. Clair Beers of Butler took from the Slippery Rock a 21-inch rainbow which weighed three pounds. He used hackle bait and the trout ran twice before being netted.

Edmund Wicht, PIAA executive speaking at Harrisburg, expressed the belief the state's high school track and field teams are preparing for their most ambitious schedules. All but one or two districts have already arranged for elimination meets to choose competitors for state titles, he asserted. The heavy campaigning will begin April 26, week-end and continue to the May 27 state-wide events.

Anne Andersson, holder of the world's outdoor mile record, in Stockholm, doubts if he and his Swedish colleague, Gunder Hagg, would be able to accept an invitation to run in the United States this summer. Andersson said he thought he and Hagg would decline the invitation to compete in the American Amateur Athletic Union meet at New York because of transportation difficulties which might make it impossible to return to Sweden for the track season here late in the summer. Andersson is holder of the 4-02.6 record for an outdoor mile set while Hagg was conducting an all-victorious tour through the United States.

Ruby Garcia knocked out Doll Rafferty in eight rounds at Milwaukee. Ray Kulp, former major league pitcher, will manage Williamsport in the Eastern league. International loop got under way today. Gil Daddi, America's 100th ace has been invited to run in Sweden. Frizzle Zivk is at New Cumberland and already has occupied a K. P. role. Dean Jack, inducted at Fort Benning, Ga., has chosen army duty.

Johnny Pearson, one of Pittsburgh's best pitchers, a couple of decades ago and who harked here in the Veterans hospital at Aspinwall. He was an all around athlete, according to Bill Campbell, who played basketball with Pearson on the Morris team of 1923. News of the City League will be meeting of the City League will be Monday night in the Y. Sponsors should be ready to present their check for franchise, according to Mike Donovan. Candidates for the Moose and Johnson Bronze reported last night.

Baseball Sure To Finish Year

Diamond Sport Can Preserve 4F's And Over 26 Players

PLAYERS IN WAR JOBS MAY RETURN

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK, April 20.—Nothing that has happened to baseball since war started is quite so important as the sudden death of proposed legislation to force the gentils in 4-F into essential industry.
When the House Military Affairs committee killed this particular proposal it was like a last minute reprieve to scores of major leaguers expecting at any moment to be yanked out of their pastime and into some chore or other beneficial to the war effort. Coming on the heels of the middle that has caused the registrants of 26 and over to be passed up temporarily this development undoubtedly means that baseball will finish out the season.

It seems likely that it will take Washington this city, not Clark Griffith's Latinized senators, at least six months to make up its various minds and by then the New York Yankees or the St. Louis Cardinals will be world champions again.

May Leave Essential Jobs
Not only will baseball be able to preserve its 4-F's and over-26 players indefinitely, but some of the others who scurried hastily into war jobs will come drifting back. Aside from everything else, this new tangent being followed by Washington at least enables the clubs to retain their present personnel—and that is vital to baseball at the moment. It can get along without any additional players, but most certainly could not have lost more without closing shop regardless of all the staunch brave things some of the officials persisted in babbling.

Unless new legislation comes up soon, and it doesn't seem likely it will, baseball is set for the season of 1944 with yesterday's opening running true to form for the day at least.

Blanks Pirates
You noticed, no doubt, that the Yankees shot out the Red Sox with a five-hitter from Hank Borowy and that the Cards blanked the Pirates with a two-hitter from Lefty Maier.

Bucky Walters pitched a three-hitter for the Cincinnati Reds, but he was beaten and nobled in picking the Reds to win the pennant anyhow, so how can you place any significance in that performance?

For the first week of facing at Jamaica through last Saturday $13,238,037 were poured through the mutuel maws by 198,786 horse-players of these parts and vicinity.

Fans Pay Millions
That is an average daily wage of $189,148 and an average crowd of 28,398. That was during a week in which there was uncertainty as to whether there would be any racing at all one day because of the groomers' strike, and it rained two days. The weather never was anything to boast about.

The people have gone nuts around here. For instance on the opening Saturday the handle was $2,601,436, and last Saturday it soared above two million again. Then yesterday with the St. James purse as the attraction the handle was $2,025,613—that's on a week-day.

On the coming Saturday they probably will break down the gates, for the Wood Memorial is to be run with Paika cin. Stir Up and a flock of other Kentucky Derby favorites and nonbies entered.

All the people around here need is a fair day for that one and they not only will shatter some waging records but some bones besides in their stampede for the windows.

JUNIOR CATCH 'EM BY THE HOOK

Trout season has opened not only here but also in Massachusetts where a cameraman for International caught Bill Forrest, 12, trying to catch one. This is the sort of wholesome recreation that goes far toward moulding the men of tomorrow, the men who will in the future guide our country. There is no sport better for a youngster than fishing and no doubt when one wends his way along Lawrence county streams, such as the Slippery Rock, Deer Creek or the Little Neshaunook he will see sights such as pictured above.

Derby Hopefuls In Wood Event

First Pre-View Of Kentucky Derby To Be Run Saturday

NEW YORK, April 20.—(INS)—On Saturday afternoon at Jamaica some one of a dozen or so four-footed racing beasts will make a move toward winning something like $100,000 for his owner in the next two weeks. All this horse that is talking about has to do is win the Wood Memorial and then follow that up with a Kentucky Derby triumph.

The Wood will be the first real pre-view of the Derby, but still considerably short of that event in class considering that many of the best three-year-olds are racing elsewhere. The Wood Memorial is a race for three-year-olds and is run on a dirt track at Jamaica.

Short Priced Co-Favorites
However, Pukka Gin, C. V. Whitney's barn and Greenlee's Stir Up, the co-favorites for Louisville's far-famed run for the Roses, will be in the mile and one-sixteenth Jamaica race. They are the short-priced co-favorites for the Derby.

Also in the Wood will be such Derby hopefuls as Bel Reigh and Syntie, mid-week winners of the St. James; Olympic Zenith, Bill Dandy, Autocrat, Gramps Image and Lucky Draw. And perhaps others. Enough anyway to make it the best race held around here so far, as it usually is this time of the year.

Penn State will meet Navy in baseball, tennis, golf, track and lacrosse this spring.

Reports Wampum Will Have Team

A recent tour in several baseball diamonds revealed great activity during the past few days.
Baseball fans in Lawrence county, well soon see their favorite teams in action.

Smitty Ferrucci says "Wampum will give them a run for their money."

MARKET STAGES
GOOD RECOVERYRails And Selected Industrials
Lead Comeback This Morning

NEW YORK, April 20—(INS)—The stock market today staged a good recovery from the losses sustained in the last three sessions. Rails and selected industrials led the comeback, in which gains ran to more than a point.

Trading was quiet, however, with sales running below yesterday's 904,395 shares.

Rubbers were features of industrial trading, Goodyear jumping over a point and U. S. Rubber up a fraction. Communications were active and higher, while steels, motors, oils and utilities were firm.

Chrysler and Standard Oil of N. J. were the leaders in their respective groups, and were up large fractions in moderately active dealings.

Bonds also recovered slightly in quiet dealings.

Penalty Would Follow Kick-off Of Less Than 10 Yards

PHILADELPHIA, April 20.—(INS)—Seven major rule changes, including one that would permit sideline coaching, will be offered to coaches and owners today at the general meeting of the National professional football league in the Quaker city.

A provision that a coach be allowed to roam the sidelines 10 yards in both directions from the middle of the team bench, to openly talk to, signal or otherwise communicate between players on the field and coaches on the bench, will be recommended by the rules committee for experimental purposes in 1944. The rule is subject to a four-fifths vote of approval at the general meeting.

Penalty On Kick-Off

Other important proposed rule changes provide for permission to any player to speak to coaches at the bench during a time out, and five yard penalties on the team kicking off until the ball is legally handled. If the ball goes out of bounds on the kick-off, the kick-off must be repeated five yards back from the original kick-off spot. The penalty is to be repeated until the ball is legally handled.

A five-yard penalty will be inflicted if the kick-off is less than the required 10 yards. During kick-offs in the last 2 minutes of either half, time will not be "in" until the ball has been legally handled. Generally, the proposed rules will prevent the kicking team from depriving the receiving team of a chance to run the ball back.

Other proposed rules changes include:

Time out shortened by 30 seconds, free substitution for another year, protection of placekick holders, interference by passing team (loss of down and yardage), and advancing ball by kickoff team.

Vinson Declares We're Holding Own Against Inflation

PHILADELPHIA, April 20.—(INS)—Fred M. Vinson, director of the Office of Economic Stabilization, told a conference of businessmen in Philadelphia Wednesday that "we are now holding our own" in the battle against inflation.

Vinson asserted that one of the strongest pressures against the cost-price line "is labor's claim for higher wages." He added that "if increases in wage rates are not held to a minimum, the cost of living cannot be controlled."

Much of the criticism of the wage stabilization program stems from two points—"The coal and railway industries," Vinson declared.

"Even if these cases were not wholly free from criticism, it is scarcely just to judge the entire policy by the most difficult instances of its application," Vinson declared.

New Wilmington Firemen Called For Grass Fires

NEW WILMINGTON, April 20.—Within three hours, local volunteer firemen received two calls to extinguish brush fires that were endangering buildings and houses here Wednesday afternoon.

Shortly after noon, firemen were called to put out a fire in the woods between the McFarland and Garrett farms north of town. Less than three hours later, the fire siren sounded again, this time for a grass fire that was threatening a barn and garage on the property of Elmer A. Newton, Neshannock avenue. Both fires were extinguished in a short time.

More than 75 per cent of the people of the United States live along surfaced roads, it is estimated.

London Cuts Red Tape To Speed Raids

By SHIRLEY WARREN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON—Red tape which heretofore has enmeshed and endangered fire watch precautions against enemy air raids on London was today removed after more than four years of war.

When the next air raid alert is sounded in the capital, practiced fire spotters will man 300 roof-top observation posts. If a roof-spotters sees fire bombs fall he will pick up a phone—and fire pumps will be set immediately to the place he names.

Drastic reorganization of the London fire guard and fire-fighting system was decided upon because of weakness revealed by recent Luftwaffe attacks. The new scheme, drawn up as a result of recommendations of a conference of fire chiefs, comes into immediate operation.

The much-criticized methods of communication between fireguards and the firebrigades are abolished. The elaborate chit system, whereby a messenger from the fireguard squad went personally to report an outbreak to the local fireguard H. Q., who in turn sought the aid of the firemen, proved a failure.

In its place come the 300 roof-top observation posts, each covering an area of half a mile radius. These posts, working on the roofs of "home" stations or on high adjoining buildings, will be manned as soon as news of raiders' approach is received.

At the same time, "task" or "mobile" stations in the area will each send five pumps to the "home" station.

One good way to finish up odds and ends of soap is to dry them out, then put them through the food chopper. The resultant powder can be used in the dishpan or washer.

VICTORY GARDEN NOTES

By LEWIS C. DAYTON,
County Agent

"SETTING OUT VEGETABLE PLANTS"

Some of our most important vegetable crops are raised from plants set out in the ground. The method by which these plants are transplanted will often determine the success or failure of the crop.

Such plants should be removed from the flat or seed bed with as much earth as possible attached to the roots. In no case should the roots be permitted to dry out. The hole where the plants are to go should be slightly larger than the roots and deep enough to permit the plants to be set somewhat deeper than they were in the flat. The dirt should be placed around the roots and firmed down after which water should be poured around the roots to remove the air. Additional dirt should then be placed around the roots and stem of the plant to fill up the hole.

Plants may be fertilized by placing a ring of fertilizer about three inches deep and three inches away from the stem of the plant—but never in direct contact with the roots.

How Many Baths Needed In Week?

CHICAGO, April 20.—(INS)—A Chicago court took jurisdiction today on the issue of the number of baths to which a man is entitled during a week.

Edward Benicivena, 43, appealed to Judge U. S. Schwartz in superior court stating that his position at the Federal Reserve Bank requires him to be immaculate at all times, but that his landlady frequently cuts off the hot water.

The judge was sympathetic and ordered that hot water be provided every week day, but that it need not be furnished Sunday. He commented:

"Mr. Benicivena can maintain his personal appearance with six baths a week."

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—
Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

NIGHT TRAFFIC COURT LIKELY

PITTSBURGH, April 20.—(INS)—Traffic court will operate a night shift for the benefit of vital war workers, if the suggestion made by Mayor Cornelius D. Scully is adopted.

In a letter to Magistrate P. J. Sullivan, presiding in traffic court, the Pittsburgh mayor stated that a three-hour night session of court held once a week would prevent the loss of time and pay by the workers.
